role models

Proving that beauty never goes out of style, the original supermodels still reign over the fashion world. Taking the lead roles at Christian Dior Haute Couture, opening Louis Vuitton's spring/summer '08 show, modeling for Chanel or posing in the front row, they're giving the youngsters a run for their money.

Claudia Schiffer shines in Chanel.

WORLD WEAR

This season's eclectic "global dressing" trend may look thrown together but beware - it's a studied kind of chaos. Part street, part high-end fashion, the key to this look is an oversized printed scarf loosely looped around the neck.

ARM CANDY

If you dream of owning a designer bag but find the prices a little out of reach, borrow one instead. Website www.lovemeeandleaveme.com hires out the most coveted accessories for a week or a month, meaning you can switch bags faster than Lindsay Lohan.
